BRIEF ABSTRACT OF LETTER.

Recommends that Mr. A. N. Raghavan a M.A. Proby Asstt Commr. might be permitted to draw Rs 250/- p.m. on his passing the Burma Local Service or the Account departmental examinations, whichever he happens to pass earlier, and on his rendering the prescribed probationary service of two years.

inferred from the Council resolution accepting only one of the recommendations of the Comptroller Viz. that Mr Raghavachar should be exempted from General training that the other recommendations were intended not to be sanctioned

3 In this view he will have to pass the remaining Local tests before he can be considered Eligible to draw Rs 250 This he can do at the earliest only in May '16 when the Exam" comes off

4 This is also the time when the two other Probationers Messrs Venkatesa Iyengar & Venkata Narasimha who occupied the 1st & 2d place at the Competitive Exam" while Mr Raghavachar was 4th will also finish themselves And the arrangement seems fair to all the three Officers Concerned

5 Whereas if the Comptroller's recommendation is accepted Mr Raghavachar will appear and if he should pass the Higher Exam" for which he has to draw Rs 250 + 50 (Local allowance as Asst Comptroller) from 11 Feb '16 Viz the date on which he completes 2 years service He will thus steal a march over his Seniors

Not necessary as he is drawing 250 during the 2nd year of Probation &c, Not hasten his Confirmation. 12.

8. Under rules viii and ix sanctioned in Government Order No.G.3528-75/G.M.232-12-1 dated the 6th January 1913, the conditions of service of a probationer intended for employment in the Accounts Department are the following:-

(1) During the first two years, he should pass the General Service Examination and undergo training in office work.

(2) In the third year, he should be attached to the Account Department and pass the examinations of that Department.

(3) During the third year and after passing the examinations referred to under (1) above, he is to be paid Rs.250.

9 Mr. Raghavachar was appointed as Probationer on the 11th February 1914 and transferred to the Accounts Department on the 18th February 1914. In his case, the normal arrangement of posting a probationer to the Account Department in the third year has been departed from. If he had been for the first two -- years in the General Department and had also passed his General Service Examination within that period, he would have been allowed to draw Rs.250/- in the third year of his probationary service. Having been transferred to the Accounts Department soon after his entertainment, he has had to prepare for the examination of that Department not in the third year as the rules provide for but earlier. In view of this, the proposal is that he may be allowed to draw Rs.250/-- from the third year, if he passes the Higher Departmental Examination of November last. There is no doubt that if Mr. Raghavachar had remained in the -- General line during the first two years of his probationary period, he would have fully passed all the General Departmental Examinations during that period and got Rs.250/- in the third year. He was transferred practically at the very commencement of his probationary period to the Accounts Department by --

Government in the interests of the Public Service and it would not be just to make him suffer for this act of Government. In effect, the proposal is simply that for the purpose of allowing the pay of Rs.250/- the Accounts Department Examination may be substituted for the General Service Examination which the rules require to be passed within the first two years.

10 Though allowed Rs.250/- Mr. Raghavachar will continue to be a probationer during the third year also and as all the officers gazetted with him will be confirmed at the end of the third year of their service, he will not go above his seniors.

The local allowance of Rs.50/- is admissible to an Assistant Comptroller who has passed the Accounts Department Examination. After passing the Government of India Financial Department Examinations, the full duties and responsibilities of a Gazetted Officer in the Accounts Department will be thrown on Mr. Raghavachar. He may, therefore, draw the local allowance of Rs.50/- admissible to fully qualified Accounts Officers after he passes all the Government of India tests. He may be technically yet a probationer for Civil Service purposes but that need not stand in the way of his getting the local allowance, which is granted in consideration of the arduous and technical nature of work.

I have the honour to acknowledge receipt of Government Order No:G.6260/G.M.97-14-4 dated the 20th November 1915 passing orders on my letter No:7676/Ry.O.L.264 dated the 17th/18th June 1915 making certain recommendations in the case of Mr. A. The Government Order while provisionally exempting Mr. Raghavachar from undergoing the practical training prescribed in Government Order No:G.11453-66-G.M.97-14-1 dated the 22nd April 1915 directs that he should pass the Local Service and other examinations prescribed. He has passed the Mysore Local Service Accounts, Revenue(Higher), Registration and Civil Part I Examinations and the Government of India Account Departmental Examination (Lower) held in November 1914. He intends appearing for Civil Part II and Criminal (Higher), the remaining Mysore Local Service Examinations to be held next May. The Government Proceedings under advertance are silent regarding my recommendation on behalf of Mr. Raghavachar made with reference to Clause (b) of Rule IX of the Civil Service Rules No:G.3528-75/G.M.232-12-1 dated the 6th January 1913 under which Probationary Assistant Commissioners are allowed to draw Rs.250/- per mensem during the 3rd year of probation on their passing the prescribed examinations. As in your No:G.9839/G.M.66-13-92 dated the 1st June 1914, Mr. Raghavachar was required to pay particular attention to qualifying himself in Civil, Public Works and Railway Accounts without giving up the studies for the Mysore Local Service Examinations. I recommended that he might be permitted to draw Rs.250/- per mensem on his passing the Mysore Local Service or the Account Departmental Examinations, whichever he happens to pass earlier. Mr. Raghavachar has already passed the Government of India Lower Departmental Examination and sat last month for the Higher. He has spared no pains to carry out the orders of Government in spite of the heavier strain which the passing of more examinations has imposed on him and he will prepare for the remaining ~~tests~~ Local Service Examinations which he has yet to pass as ordered by Government. When he passes all the Local Service Examinations he will become fully qualified for the General Department and when he passes the Higher Accounts Examination he will become fully qualified for the Accounts Department. My recommendation is that he may be allowed to draw Rs.250/- as soon as he qualifies fully for either of the Departments and also renders the prescribed probationary service of two years. In the circumstances of his case my recommendation on Mr. Raghavachar's behalf is reasonable and I request Government may be pleased to sanction it.

2. On his becoming fully qualified for appointment as an Assistant Comptroller by passing the Account Department Examination, the local allowance of Rs.50/- sanctioned to Assistant Comptrollers as per para 3 of Government Order No:Fl.1633/G.F.13-12-9 dated the 17th September 1913 will also be admissible to him.

3. I solicit the early orders of Government on the above recommendation.

I have the honour to be,

Your most obedient servant,

Comptroller,
